Chloe's fearless pursuit of her passions

At just 23 years old, Chloe has proven that age is no barrier to achieving your goals. She may be young, but Chloe is a woman who knows what she wants from life and isn't afraid to make possibilities a reality.

Chloe attends the Alexandra Hills Learning and Lifestyle hub, and also works at the Endeavour Foundation Support Centre one day a week in the Finance team.

"I think helping out the guys is what I like to do. I am a helpful person. It makes me feel really good," said Chloe. "If I see something that needs doing, I will pitch in and do it. That makes me feel pretty happy."

Through her employment, Chloe has not only developed valuable computer skills but has also discovered her true calling: to work in a library.

"My goal is to work two days a week, Thursday and Friday, to build skills to work in a book department, like a library. I am here to develop skills in computers so I know how to use computers in the library," Chloe said.

While Chloe is working towards her career goals, she is also learning Auslan.

"I decided to [teach Auslan] because my hearing is slowly going. I think it might go completely one day but I really hope not. So I have decided to teach at Learning and Lifestyle hubs and head office to communicate with people if I do one day completely go deaf," Chloe said.

Chloe started teaching online Auslan classes at Endeavour Foundation Support Centre in 2022. Since then, she has started teaching in-person workshops at the Alexandra Hills Learning and Lifestyle hub and hopes to expand her classes to more Learning and Lifestyle hubs around Brisbane.

"It makes me very excited and happy to see people wanting to learn a new language and how engaged they are, and how some people are able to do the signs without my help," Chloe said.

"[I hope] to one day be able to teach all Endeavour Learning & Lifestyle hubs in Brisbane."

It's thanks to your support that Chloe can continue working towards her career goals and teach Auslan.

REAL WINNER STORY

Full circle moment for $2.35 million Prize Home winner

Thanks to a chance encounter three decades ago, the winner of Endeavour Foundation's stunning $2.35 million Glass House Mountains Prize Home had always believed that real people like him could win.

"I met some people 30 years ago – friends of friends – that had actually won an Endeavour home up Noosa way, and I thought, wow, people actually do win."

Fast forward to December 2023, and Paul was grateful to experience the incredible full circle moment of telling his friends that he had won an Endeavour Foundation Prize Home.

"My friends have been saying that they've never met anyone who has won a Prize Home. I've told a few people who've never bought tickets and now they're going to go and buy tickets now," he laughed.

Having bought Endeavour Foundation Prize Home tickets for over 35 years, for Paul, his decision to support isn't just about the chance of winning.

"I know that if I win it's great, but I also know that the money will go to people with disabilities, which Endeavour Foundation does a great job with."

"I've known a few people who've used the services so I've always wanted to help support when I can." Even though Paul had always known that real people do win, it took until the handover day for him to really believe that he was one of them.

"Handover day was very exciting. We arrived at the house and the team was waiting for us and they showed us around. It was excellent. I suppose I was still in disbelief but when they left, I thought, "Well, ok, it's my house now," Paul smiled.

"And of course, my family were there, so we decided to try it all out and jump in the pool," he laughed. It just goes to show – real people like Paul really do win.
