

EMERGING TECHNOLOGIES

Police

Today's police engage technology by a number of means – computer devices installed in vehicles such as number plate and license recognition, online engagement with criminals, surveillance equipment in helicopters to body cameras worn by police officers in the field.