

EMERGING TECHNOLOGIES

Public sector and government

Government employees are now required to have much higher digital literacy skills to enable them to work and connect remotely with each other and with stakeholders. Various apps and systems have been developed and implemented to assist with COVID19 tracking and compliance.